90-year-old building is latest Call project

PROVO — A 90-year-old downtown building is the latest renovation project for developer Craig Call.

Scaffolding rises parallel to the front of the Gates and Snow Building, 43 E. Center. Old typewriters, desks and chairs have been dragged out of second and third floors and hauled away in preparation of the renovation job.

Renovation is covering all three floors of the building, approximately 10,000 square feet, and is scheduled to be completed by the end of the year. The $500,000 project is being funded by a Honolulu surgeon, Call said.

Downtown redevelopment investors paved the way for the renovation by assuming control of the Inland Real Estate and Development Company earlier this year.

The Inland Real Estate and Development Co. was one of Provo's oldest firms, having been organized in 1905. Original principals in the corporation were Dr. Fred W. Taylor and Alex Hedquist, a local pharmacist. The purchase by investors was negotiated with their heirs.

Am.F. student crowned Highland Junior Miss

HIGHLAND — Sally Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Smith, was crowned the 1985 Highland Junior Miss Saturday and will now go on to compete in the state Junior Miss pageant.

Megan Kelly, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Brian Kelly, was selected as first runner-up and Holly Francom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Francom, was named second runner-up.

Miss Smith, the senior class vice president at American Fork High School, enjoys biking, swimming, camping and hiking. She plays the bassoon and the piano, and entertained the audience Saturday with her piano rendition of Rachmaninoff's "Concerto No. 2."

She is a member of the French and German Clubs at school and enjoys traveling. She plans to attend Overland Conservative next fall, using scholarship money she earned in the pageant.

Dressed in a pink, ruffled evening gown, she told judges she enjoys sports, but has never done much dancing.

ing until she entered the pageant.

One of the pageant requirements was to perform a physical fitness routine. That dance number accounted for 15 percent of Miss Smith's score.

Contestants were also judged on scholastic achievement, creative performing arts, poise and appearance and a judge's interview.

For the creative and performing arts section of the pageant, Miss Kelly performed "Revolutionary Etude" on the piano and Miss Francom presented a baton routine.

Also honored at the pageant was the Spirit of Junior Miss award. Kathie Merrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Merrill.

Awards for ticket sales went to Godwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Godwin, and Angela Horan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Debra Horan.

Laura Linton, the 1984 Highland Junior Miss, and emcee Don Zimmerman crowned the new queen and her attendants.
